

Fair Use Policy

This policy is made in accordance with our Service Terms and Conditions and applies to calls included within 6G Internet's call packages which can be found here.

6G Internet's call packages are specifically designed to provide value for money to our residential customers and your monthly package price includes calls made to specified numbers. Our call packages are not intended for business use.

A fair use limit of 1,000 minutes per billing month applies to all calls stated as being included in your call package, except when stated otherwise. For example, if your order confirmation states "unlimited calls," this limit does not apply.

A full list of call plans affected by this policy can be found here.

The fair use limit does not apply to boosts

6G Internet believes the fair use limit reflects reasonable usage by residential consumers. The fair use limit is applied to prevent abuse and to enable us to keep our call package prices as competitive as possible, which we believe to be beneficial for the vast majority of our customers.

Any calls made in excess of the fair use limit set by 6G Internet will be charged in accordance with our Price List.
